

ProDetect™

Drug of Abuse Test

Drug of abuse is defined as the excessive, maladaptive, or addictive use of drugs for non-medical purposes. It may cause physical dependence and depression on the central nervous system.

The multi-drug screen test is a competitive immunoassay utilizing highly specific reactions between antibodies and antigens for the detection of multiple drugs and drug metabolites in human urine without the use of an instrument. The application of this test enables the detection of the presence of abused and the illegal drugs and/or surveillance on the drug abuse-associated mortality.

When to get tested?

- During job applications, when employers need job applicants to justify their health status (without drug and alcohol problems) which may lead to accidents and absenteeism.
- Before enrolment in a detoxification or drug rehabilitation scheme, after a drug problem is reported.
- When a person suspects that he/she may have taken a drug accidentally or has been given a drug without consent.
- When a person takes part in a sports event at a professional level.
- When a person is suspected of driving under the influence of drugs of abuse.
- When doctors think that drug abuse testing is required to decide the treatment regimen for a patient.
- For legal purposes (e.g. child custody cares).
